A fun old school arcade shooter with nice gfx and sound. Gameplay is spot on. I wish there were trading cards but mostly miss that there aren't any achievements to hunt for.. Match 3 Pretty interesting and fun game!. I rate the game ARCADE GAME SERIES: Ms. PAC-MAN 3/5. Okay.

If, on your computer, you want to play Ms. Pac-Man EXACTLY as it appeared in the arcade with very few frills or fringe benefits (other than a few steam awards and some fun alternate settings which, incidentally, will prevent you from earning any steam awards if you modify them away from their default parameters) then this game is for you.

However, even given what it attempts to achieve, this game is far from perfect. The system requirements for this game are stupidly high given what this game allows you to do and it says nothing about whether the game is designed to run on a smart phone (which would be cool if it does). Why does Ms. Pac-Man need 2000 megabytes of RAM? Why does it need at least a 2.3 Ghz processor? These system specs are completely insane for a game of such utter simplicity.

Sure, this game runs fine on my computer but that's entirely missing the point. Ms. Pac-Man should have been designed to run fine on ANY remotely modern electronic device which has any kind of screen and some sort of controls. The fact that the game designers didn't purposefully attempt to reach a far wider audience (all phone users which exist) is baffling and absurd. This version's designers simply weren't ambitious enough and somehow caused this game to have system requirements which were completely undreamt of when this game first came out (the year 1982) and that seems to me to be either a little crazy or very lazy.

I wish this game's requirements simply said "Any electronic device which has any kind of operating system which has been made since the year 1990." That would have been a cool programming achievement to attempt but Nooo! The makers of this version didn't even try to get close to that fairly obvious concept. What's next in the future, a classic version of Ms. Pac-Man that requires two GTX Titans? Or worse still, a quantum computer?. Muy buen juego, excelente ambientacion. Little Collection of (really) short Storys. The main target audience are children i guess but if you love the artstyle of the Shelter-Games you will love this little collection as well.

Worth a buy? If you really love the Shelter games, yes. If you like short storys with a lovely Artstyle, sure but you might want to buy it when it's on sale (like i did)

99.9% full of cheating noobs on remastered, when spawn just plant 2 claymores in a room at each entrance and you will kill 2 wall hackers in minutes.. Awesome game, has elements of what every guy wants to say and do, but dares not to do in real life (bad "red" choices) that make this hilarious to play. It's great as Richard has a style where he engages naturally with the women, not silly routines or pick-up lines.

WHAT SUPER SEDUCER NEEDS:

1) Eye contact practice - so many hot models, there should be a feature where they stare at the camera, twirl their hair, and you have to keep eye contact as long as possible for practice (FMV)

2) Day game approach with timer for choices - speed and fast thinking on comments or lines, should be a timer option where you have to be quick witted and choose your responses under time limit (like real life as you can't wait 10 minutes for your reply to a girl). Very Very good for a wine making game feels very relaxed you should buy this game. I loved the game and I'm a big fan of the soundtrack, hope these guys manage to make another horror game sometime :). I've been playing this game for like 4 years. It's amazing. Another indie game that gives a lot of fun. Hoorah!

. You play a goat falsely convicted of witchcraft, and you have to escape, and that's deep, because aren't we all goats falsely convicted of witchcraft who need to escape? This is the sequel to the best game ever, and it isn't really better or worse, but if you think about it, that still ties it for best game ever. Boom. That was the sound your mind just made. Because it blew.. I don't like it that much.. waste my time to playing this game ,other ppl can steal our base ,then can build the item in our base ,rubbish waste money to buy this
